

We have pleasure to announce Monthly lecture meeting on December 29, 2007 [Saturday] at 6 PM at Damle Hall, Off Law College Road, Pune. The details of meeting are as follows:

Speaker: Pramod Paranjape

Topic: "Have you tested your software enough?"

Abstract:

This question looks simple, but had wide implications in SDLC. Software has many elements like user interface, functionality, performance, security, usability, compatibility etc. The session is to introduce the business realities and means to test software in the best possible manner. It is important to best use different possible means of testing, so one has to balance the usage of different ways of testing.

Introduction:

Pramod Paranjape
General Manager, Aztecsoft

For last 3 and half years, Pramod has worked on software testing projects. The nature of the projects has been diverse – manual testing, test automation, mobile applications testing, performance and security testing. Pramod is currently with Aztecsoft as a general manager and delivery unit head. Being a practitioner, he has set up test processes and also has provided inputs to developing metrics for test processes.

Please attend the lecture meeting and gain from Pramod's knowledge & experience.
